The Walpole Makers Collective hosted a vibrant and engaging Christmas market event, filled with a variety of attractions and activities that catered to a broad audience in the community. This event was a lively and colourful celebration of local craftsmanship and community spirit, a true testament to the vibrant culture of Walpole.

Cherries and Cheer

The Manjimup 'Markets and More' this year was a standout event, shining through even with fewer volunteers. It wasn't just about the cherries, but the community coming together to celebrate.

A highlight for many was the log choppers competition. It was a hit with everyone, showcasing skill and strength. Gertrude Wellese, our MC, kept the mood light and fun, making people laugh as they enjoyed the festival.

The markets were filled with local products, especially cherry-themed items, reflecting Manjimup's rich agricultural roots.

In addition to the delicious breakfast offerings of free buckwheat pancakes topped with exquisite salmon or banoffee pie filling, the market showcased an impressive array of locally made products.

These ranged from handcrafted jewellery, clothing, and unique home décor items, to artisanal food products, all highlighting the creativity and skills of the Walpole Makers. The 10% discount on store items likely encouraged more visitors to purchase these unique goods, supporting local artisans and businesses.

For children, there was a storytelling session and free face painting added a playful element, allowing kids to transform into their favourite characters or designs, enhancing the festive atmosphere.

The music at lunchtime, paired with a free sausage sizzle, provided the perfect backdrop for community members to mingle, relax, and enjoy the festivities.

Additionally, the gathering of all the Walpole Makers not only made the day enjoyable but also likely fostered a sense of camaraderie and collaboration among the local artisans. This event might have served as an excellent platform for these makers to network, share ideas, and possibly collaborate on future projects, further enriching the community's cultural and artistic landscape.

For the children, there were attractions like a petting zoo and a bouncy castle, which were big hits.

Our very own Rob V and Amber Shei entertained the crowd with their music, adding to the festival's lively atmosphere. The number of people who attended, was impressive.

The festival was a hub of activity, drawing hundreds of people from near and far.

Attendees dressed in vibrant cherry-themed outfits, adding a splash of colour and festivity to the event. The local dance troop also put on a great show, another highlight of the day.

High-profile guests like Jane Kelsbie MLA from Labour and Louise Kingston MLC from the Nationals were there too, mingling and understanding community needs.

The Manjimup 'Markets and More' was not just a celebration of cherries and local talent, Manjimup showcased its ability to come together, celebrate together, and thrive together. I am so glad I went; it was a fun day out.

Walpole welcomes new CRC Trainee and celebrated children's book author, Diana Smith

The Walpole Community Resource Centre (CRC) is delighted to announce the addition of Diana Smith, an accomplished children's book author and community enthusiast, to its dynamic team. Diana, along with her husband, moved to Walpole from Perth a year ago, demonstrating a swift integration into the local community by volunteering at the Visitor Centre and the Maker's Collective.

Diana brings with her a rich tapestry of experiences and accomplishments.

Notably, she is an award-winning author who has recently completed her tenth book, a testament to her dedication and talent in the literary field. Her works, which focus on themes of mindfulness, resilience, and gratitude, have not only enriched the minds of young readers but also resonate with the values the CRC aims to foster in the community.

In addition to her literary prowess, Diana has an extensive professional background. She served as a practice manager for a dentist in Perth for over three decades, honing her skills in administration and management. Furthermore, her experience as an education assistant in Perth, working in primary schools for three years, aligns perfectly with her role at the CRC, where she will be conducting workshops. These workshops are anticipated to be a blend of her literary insight and her educational expertise, aiming to impart valuable life skills to participants.

Her husband, Kerry, who is currently working in Perth, shares her enthusiasm for community engagement and looks forward to finding full-time work in the area next year.

The couple's commitment to the community and eagerness to contribute actively is a shining example of the spirit that drives Walpole.

Diana's arrival at the CRC marks a significant addition to the team, promising to bring new perspectives and initiatives that align with the CRC's mission of community development and connecting people. Her experience, both professional and personal, is an asset to the Walpole community.

As the community of Walpole continues to thrive and expand, the CRC remains steadfast in its mission to develop regional communities and create opportunities for learning and growth. With Diana Smith on board, the CRC is set to embark on an exciting new chapter in its journey of community engagement and development.

Nature Notes: Snotty Gobble

Persoonia longifolia, commonly known as Snotty Gobble, is a species of flowering plant in the family Proteaceae and it is unique to the southwest of Western Australia. If you would like to see it take a walk around Horseyard Hill behind the Visitor Centre. The tree typically grows in jarrah, karri, marri and tingle forest where it stands out against the grey-green foliage of the eucalypt species. It has weeping foliage, yellow flowers and distinctive flaky bark. The uncomplimentary name refers to the fruits, which are very squishy when ripe.

This plant is an erect shrub and has a single trunk, grows 1-5m tall in the understorey of the forest, catching the light where it can. It has flaky bark which is brown on the surface and reddish-purple below. The branches are covered with brown, rust-coloured hairs. The leaves are linear and lance-shaped with the narrower end to wards the base. The flowers are borne in groups of up to 30 on 70mm stalks. Flowering occurs from October to January and the fruit is a small round ball which ripens in July and it contains a single seed. Snotty Gobblers are pollinated by native bees and the European honey bee. The fruit is food for wallabies, kangaroos and the bobtail lizard (shingleback skink). The young branches are often damaged by tip-boring Ptyssoptera moth and the Australian ringneck parrot and red-tailed black cockatoos. continued page 7...

This plant can regenerate after fire from the epicormic buds (these bud from the trunk) and the underground lignotuber. It is considered to be not threatened by the West Australian Department of Parks and Wild Life.

Snotty Gobbles are used in reforestation programmes after mining and in the cut flower trade, valued for its weeping appearance and durability. It has been considered as a commercial plant for nurseries, however, the seed needs to be buried for at least eighteen months before germination occurs. Even then, competition for light in the forest and grazing by animals does not allow many to germinate.

Watch out for bushfire charity scams

- Devastating Mariginiup bushfire a likely target for callous scammers
- Donors urged to be wary of fake websites and bogus social media posts
- Advice to only donate via Lord Mayor's Distress Fund or licensed charities

Kind-hearted Western Australians looking to donate to the victims of the Mariginiup bushfire are being warned by Consumer Protection to be wary of scammers who may set up fake charity fundraisers.

Individuals who wish to raise funds for victims are also reminded that collecting money for a charitable purpose requires a licence, or the involvement of a licensed charity.

Consumer Protection is yet to receive any scam reports associated with the recent bushfire disaster, but Commissioner Trish Blake believes it's only a matter of time until scammers strike.

"Heartless scammers are known to capitalise on the vulnerable by pretending to raise money for individual victims or the affected community via fake websites and social media posts," Ms Blake said.

"You might also be approached by scammers via unsolicited emails and text messages, so the best advice is avoid clicking on any links received in these ways and never hand over personal information like email addresses, phone numbers or bank details to people you don't know.

"These cruel scams not only steal money from the generous donors who want to help, but they also take away much-needed funds from the victims of these disasters as well."

To help those impacted by the Mariginiup bushfire, Consumer Protection recommends making donations to the Lord Mayor's Distress Relief Fund, which is now actively accepting donations via the official website: <https://appealswa.org.au/>.

"The best way to avoid being scammed and ensure your donations get to the people who need it most, is to donate to licensed charities only, which will efficiently distribute funds, or official fundraisers like the Lord Mayor's Distress Relief Fund which responds to major issues as they occur," Ms Blake said.

CELEBRATING COMMUNITY

The year that was... a few highlights

We are just weeks away from farewelling 2023 - & what a year it's been.

It's been great to meet with & talk to many of you over the last 12 months & to advocate for our communities.

Highlights this year include:

- $350,000 & securing a property lease - to support a childcare centre in Augusta;
- $1.14 million towards the relocation & replacement of sea wall infrastructure at Ocean Beach in Denmark;
- Advocating for road safety upgrades including on the South Western Highway $1.5 million towards widening the seals (Vasse Highway to Quinninup), $300,000 towards the construction of passing lanes between Bridgetown & Manjimup, $130,200 towards upgrades on the Balingup-Nannup Road; & $25,000 towards the widening and improving the geometry of Muirs Road in Manjimup East;
- $400 electricity credit to every WA household;
- $2.7 million worth of major upgrades to the Cape to Cape Track & visitor signage;
- $1.8 million upgrade to the Plantagenet Cranbrook Emergency Department
- Expanding the WA Telestroke to become a 24/7 service in the regions;
- 11 new operational vehicles to volunteer bushfire brigades & a state-of-the-art flood-rescue boat valued at nearly $3 million for emergency services in the South West;
- Increasing the Cost of Living Rebate for WA Seniors Card members & helping keep seniors safe at home with a Safety & Security rebate of up to $400 per home.

Looking to next year, I will also continue to work collaboratively with local governments, community housing providers, local community groups & individuals to create opportunities to boost housing supply across our electorate.

It's my absolute pleasure & a privilege to be your strong regional voice for Warren-Blackwood, working hard to ensure the needs of our communities are represented in State Parliament.

I hope you're able to enjoy the break with family & friends - feel free to say hello if you catch me during my travels across the electorate.

Have a safe, fun & happy festive season.
