Walpole CRC Celebrates the Women's Wellness in the Walpole Wilderness Project

Well that's a wrap ladies. The Department of Communities Women's Grant has come to an end. The grand finale was held on Sunday night with Emelie Coffey at the helm of our chakra journey. The full moon was spectacular and the energy amongst the 16 women who attended was peaceful.

Reflecting on the Women's Workshops in the Walpole Wilderness (WWWW) journey over the last year fills me with joy. I was incredibly lucky to be part of every workshop so I got to see the impact it had on every woman that attended and I got to experience what they experienced.

Everyone was grateful for the opportunity to have such an array of workshops in Walpole which was shown through smiles, hugs, tears, laughs and many cups of tea. I was pleasantly surprised by the gifted and talented women in our community who came forward to run these workshops and the knowledge that they had to share was invaluable. We employed local women who were all fabulous and were inspiring to all who attended. We loved you all, you were amazing and we are grateful to have attended your workshops.

I was awed by the real need for women to come together in a community to share, support and care for one another. Sometimes it's easy to isolate ourselves and be blissfully peaceful on our own or be so consumed by life that we don't take time out for ourselves - but when we get to be amongst our beautiful sisters the joy, growth and knowledge that comes is exquisite.

We have shared so much over the last 12 months but it has not ended here. Women are being inspired to share and come together more often with new groups popping up everywhere. So watch out for more exercise classes, community group chats and CRC workshops.

A huge thanks to the Walpole CRC for providing their wonderful services, venues and staff to run the workshops. Thanks to the Department of Communities for the grant giving.

So all that's left now is to reflect on what's been and gone, cherish the growth and love of this wonderful community that we live in and get the acquittal done.

Thanks to the lovely ladies and gents who supported these workshops, for without you it would not have been such a huge success.

Thanks kindly and love always.

The Walpole Family Centre Association and Committee

The Walpole Family
Centre is a communityrun Child Care Centre.
This means that the Centre is run by a
Management Committee, who are elected by members of the Walpole Family Centre Association, each year, at our AGM.

What is the Walpole Family Centre Management Committee?

The Walpole Family Centre relies on the skills, knowledge and enthusiasm of association members who volunteer to serve on the committee of management. The Management Committee is the legal operator of the centre and is responsible for ensuring that our centre operates according to our constitution, relevant legislation, and national regulations and standards. Committee members must also satisfy Working with Children checks and Police background checks. It is the Committee's responsibility to employ a Centre Director, child care educators and auxiliary staff, and to ensure that these employees are provided with a supportive work environment, to allow them to deliver the best possible education and care service for the children of Walpole.

The 2024 committee members are Chairperson Trudi Miles, Secretary Emily Webster, Treasurer Seren Rose, and General Committee Members Chris Webster, Jonathan Schultz and Hannah Logan.

What is the Walpole Family Centre Association?

Parents and carers of children who use our service, and other interested community members, are welcome to become members of the Walpole Family Centre Association. It is the members of the association that elect the committee of management. As part of our 2024 membership drive, we are offering membership of the Walpole Family Centre Association for just $1! Membership forms are available from the child care centre and the CRC, or you can email us at wfc.committee@gmail.com and we'll send one to you.

Peaceful protest in Nornalup

On Saturday 23rd March between 150 and 200 people gathered in Nornalup to protest the planned prescribed burn of 80 hectares of ancient, mostly long unburnt, Tingle Forest.

Many Denmark and Walpole residents supported Nornalup residents calling for this burn to be cancelled as Tingle Forests are found nowhere else in the world and are home to many threatened species, including mainland quokkas.

The Tingle trees, some of which are hundreds of years old, cannot tolerate repeated burning as fire gets into their bases, causing collapse of the old giants. This occurred as recently as last December in a nearby prescribed burn.

The Denmark Environment Centre (DEC) and Fire and Biodiversity WA (FaBWA) have been calling for an independent review of broad-scale prescribed burning practices for several years as they are clearly causing degradation and decline of forests and other ecosystems in our National Parks and conservation reserves. These fires are too big, too hot, and too frequent.

DEC and FaBWA, along with the WA Forest Alliance (WAFA), are calling on the WA government to act now and bring about change to the way these burns are planned and conducted. There are alternatives to the current practices, such as rapid detection and suppression, and increased resourcing of bushfire mitigation strategies around homes and towns. Observations and research show that burning Tingle forest increases flammability as it stimulates growth of dense understoreys.

What picture can you make with this shape?

Letter to the Editor

Cigarette butts are litter and as small as they might seem, carry with them a heavy burden. Not only do they mar the beauty of the beach, but they also pose a significant threat to marine life and the health of the oceans. Made from non-biodegradable materials, they leech harmful chemicals into the sand and water, impacting the delicate balance of marine ecosystems. Fish, birds, and other wildlife, mistake them for food, ingest these poisonous relics, leading to dire consequences for their health and survival.

Did you know that in Western Australia the Litter Act 1979 (WA) governs littering behavior, with Keep Australia Beautiful Council WA responsible for managing litter control and prevention. Fines can be issued for littering cigarette butts.

So, to the lovely people down at the Peaceful Bay beach who sit in their vehicles in the afternoon and enjoy the beautiful environment, please stop dropping these butts onto the beach.

Thanks kindly

Year of the Wood Dragon

Did you know that the Rooster is the lucky charm for this year, Chinese Year of the Wood Dragon?

Or that taking better care of our liver and gallbladder may help us to enjoy the year better?

Or that Qi Gong is a really cheap and easy way to move energy through your body, which is always important and what the Year of the Dragon is asking us to do more of?

Last week a group of women gathered in the Community Gardens to learn about Traditional Chinese Medicine and the Year of the Dragon from our resident Traditional Chinese Medicine practitioner; Rosemarie Warnock.

It was so interesting to learn more about this form of therapy and have an opportunity to talk about things going on in our own lives so that Rosemarie could speak about them from a TCM perspective.

We learned about the mystical nature of the Dragon in the Chinese Zodiac and how we are supported this year to move forward with those projects that we have been putting off for way too long.

We all received a little stone rooster trinket to carry around with us this year which is a happy reminder of all that we learned.

It was lovely to get together with some familiar faces as well as meet some new people in town. I am very much looking forward to the next gathering on the 22nd April, to learn more and to practise Qi Gong together.

Age without getting old!

Being strong and energetic as well as having a full range of movement is not unrealistic. Your body was designed to move. Most people rust out and do not wear out, the adage "use it or lose it" is very relevant.

Pilates was developed by Joseph Pilates to promote wellness and assist in rehabilitation. The main objective is to re-build your core strength giving you back control over your body as well as creating flexibility through a full range of movements.

Imagine going through the day without the normal aches and pains, being able to engage in the physical activities you love, without the inevitable side effects. Having the energy to enjoy what you are doing is priceless.

Pilates is a no age barrier or physical condition activity, suited to those who have never done a class right up to very advanced practitioners.

The main benefits are:

Improved core strength - avoid losing your balance and feel stronger.

Flexibility through stretching with control - muscles and tendons supple and strong.

Alleviate back, hip, neck and leg pain.

Strengthen and tone your whole body.

Improve your general fitness.

As we get older, we need to continue to focus on good body management: things don't happen just because we want them to.

Pilates is a pathway to feeling great and enjoying the physical aspect of your life.

Classes start on 2nd April at the Walpole Community Hall 9am Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Completion of upgraded boat ramp

The Department of Biodiversity, Conservation, and Attractions (DBCA) in partnership with the Shire of Denmark are delighted to announce the completion of the upgraded boat ramp and new accessible paddle facility at Walpole and Nornalup Inlets Marine Park.

All visitors can now safely launch their dinghies, kayaks, or stand-up paddle boards to explore the scenic Frankland River up to Monastery Landing, which was upgraded in late 2023.

The new Nornalup jetty features an allabilities ramp and boardwalk connecting the carpark to the platform, complete with seating and an accessible paddle launch chute. This facility accommodates people of all abilities who want to paddle the river and explore the Walpole Nornalup Marine Park.

Minor landscaping and asphalt sealing works will be completed early April, marking the final stages of this significant project for the community which was funded through the WA Recovery Plan.

The ramp will be open for public use from Friday, March 29th.

Nature Notes: Western Banjo Frog

The Western Banjo Frog or Limnodynastes dorsalis is found in the southwest of WA. It is also called bullfrog or pobblebonk. The sound it makes during winter or spring is like a plucked banjo string. It is a fairly robust, large frog up to 7.5cm although females can be larger at 8.5cm. It is grey or greygreen with numerous patches of brown and a yellow stripe running down its back. The red patches underneath in the groin area is what distinguishes the western type of this frog. It also has a glandular ridge at the corner of the mouth and large poisonous glands on the upper side of the calves. The male has more powerful arms than the female and develops a dark throat and nuptial pads during the breeding season.

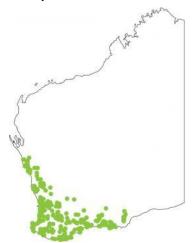

Calling can begin as early as May in the northern part of its range. Breeding continues to early December.

During mating the female beats the surface of the water to produce a white foamy mass. The eggs are laid on the base of this foam raft which is usually hidden under overhanging vegetation. The raft is anchored and it is unusual to see free floating rafts on the water.

Tadpoles are relatively large, growing up to 8cm in length. They have dark brown backs and black spots and the underneath has a blue hue. Tails and fins are transparent. The tadpoles are found in deep, permanent water and development into froglets is slow. They emerge from early summer to April. Adult and juvenile Western Banjo Frogs are often encountered quite a distance from water.

They are good at burrowing and spend much of the year buried in sandy soils away from breeding sites. They are found from Kalbarri to Cape Arid.

Programme launched for Invest Great Southern Conference

Invest Great Southern conference organisers are proud to unveil an exciting lineup of speakers for this inaugural event, taking place at the Albany Entertainment Centre on 8-9th May 2024.

Under the banner of "A forward look at what is possible," this conference marks a pivotal moment for the Great Southern region, offering a unique convergence of ideas geared towards economic development and investment opportunities.

Invest Great Southern: A forward look at what is possible is presented by the Albany Chamber of Commerce and Industry (ACCI) in collaboration with the City of Albany, Great Southern Development Commission, and Regional Development Australia.

The event will feature keynote speaker Paul Higgins, CEO of EmergentFutures, renowned for his forwardthinking approach to business strategy and planning. With over 20 years of experience as a futurist, Higgins is set to provide attendees with an inspiring glimpse into the potential futures of regional Western Australia and the Great Southern.

Joining him is a diverse array of industry leaders, including Lucy Anderton of AgriFutures Australia; Dr. Natasha Teakle from AgriStart; Stephen Birkbeck, Raintree Estate; Glen Wilson from Vestas; Professor Cobie Rudd of Edith Cowan University; Carolyn Turnbull of Tourism WA; April Walker, WA Spaceport; and Glenda Stirling of Grange Resources among many others.

Michael Carter, of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry WA (CCIWA) will share insights into trade, investment, and workplace relations, contributing to a comprehensive exploration of the region's business landscape.

Discussions and presentations will be framed across six key pillars of industry growth for the region: Agriculture; Mining, Renewable energy; Housing and Planning; Education and Tourism.

Attendees can anticipate unparalleled networking opportunities and a showcase of local and Western Australian businesses at our exhibition booths. The two-day conference will be wrapped up with an exclusive tour of the region's top tourism attractions that highlight the natural beauty and cultural richness of the Great Southern, offering attendees a glimpse into the lifestyle and potential the area holds for investors and residents alike.

Albany CCI CEO, Kristen Pyrz-Brown said that "Invest Great Southern is more than a conference; it's a commitment to the economic development and prosperity of the Albany region and the broader Great Southern. It's an invitation to be part of a collective vision that embraces growth, innovation, and sustainability."

Don't miss this opportunity to be at the forefront of shaping the future of the Great Southern.
